A stunning example fresh out of a major restoration of body, woodwork, interior trim & mechanicals.

This car is finished in Silver over metallic black giving it a real air of gravitas. To the interior is brand new tan leather throughout along with beige carpeting. The boot is of course done in black. This car sports particularly fine burr walnut which has all been removed & french polished to a mirror like shine.

These is a cocktail cabinet in the back & also a modern period looking radio. The rear seat armrest folds open to reveal the usual beauty requisites found in these cars. It is equipped with twin fold out occasional seats making the car a true 7 seat vehicle. There are also rear picnic tables in the car. Being an early example is has the rear suicide door configuration which to our mind is far more elegant then the later front hinged door versions.

The restoration work is just about finished & we will be conducting a more thorough photo shoot as soon as it arrives with us. Overall it is in stunning condition with all corrosion cut out & removed & new inner & outer sills installed. On the road it looks & goes as one would expect from a car that has had well over £100k spent upon it to bring it up to the condition we find it in today.
